Abe,

You might also consider using the Corporate Credit Card and/or Rosenwald Capital Management Inc for the lawyers fees depending on what Anita thinks? 😊

One at a time makes good sense, especially if safer and don't fret about the added cost as if this was an issue we would have pushed you to go to the Ukraine!! 😊

Benno will tell you that I LIVE for financial disasters. They always create fabulous opportunities.

Big Hugs to you Both,

Dad

Thank you Jamie!

We have to have a discussion with Dr. Kolb and amongst ourselves in regard to the one at a time or two at a time scenario.

I have done more research and it is no longer recommended to implant more than 1 egg because the success rates are so high, and by doing so you increase the risk of getting a triple pregnancy, which is high risk - and no one wants that.

The idea of doing two at once was to save on surrogacy cost, and to keep the years of diapers at a minimum, but what's another few years.

So, personally, I am leaning to having one at a time, but we still need to discuss it more.

And ps., In the event that the cannabis business burns out (pun intended), and donald trump leads us into a total global financial meltdown, I think we could all manage on a Rosenwald family commune somewhere, maybe Santa Fe! Twyla, Montana, and Indiana would loooooove that! It could be very Gilligans Island!

Warmest regards,

Benno & Abe,

1. For ALL medical related expenses please use the corporate credit card as it seems you have already done so.
2. I assume that the agency fees, egg donor and surrogate compensation are not medical related so these need to come out of the JBR IV Trust account. Anita can help with Jill & Walt's approval of the wire transfers or checks as needed?

Is the plan to do one at a time and give each child the benefit of complete attention or are you set on doing two at the same time? My aunt Pat was pretty adamant about giving each child the benefit of the attention as she seems to have had quite a few "twins" issues in her family practice.

Happily the Trust account has plenty of cash and we can keep our fingers crossed that the cannabis related businesses continue to grow.

Very exciting news!!!

Love,

Dad

Subject: Embryos and Surrogacy

Hey Dad,

I am attaching the information for the costs of the egg donor and surrogacy process. I want to know how you would like us to pay for this.

The Egg Donor Cycle with IVF for two sperm contributors is $38,000.00. This has been paid in full on my corporate card. I have informed Anita and we have double checked this is a medical write off expense.

The remaining fee's are for the egg donor compensation and agency fees, which are $31,650.00. We are mailing a check from our joint account for $7,000.00 to the agency along with the completed paperwork and we need to fund an escrow account with our attorney in the amount of $24,650.00 by early next week. How would you like us ot handle this? This NEEDS TO BE DONE BY NEXT WEEK!

Upon completion of the above, we will have viable embryos for implanting into a surrogate. The remaining cost will be $2,000.00 to transfer embryos to a surrogate, as well as surrogate compensation, which will likely be around $50,000.00, plus any legal and escrow fees, which will likely be a few thousand dollars. This will take place when we begin the process of actually having the baby.

thanks so much!

Benno
